Managing Change

Do you have an upcoming change project and are you wondering how to integrate your team, successfully manage the change and establish it in your organisation? Take the lead in managing your change project, thinking about the most important steps and how to deal with resistance. This e-learning will show you what makes change projects fail, and what steps will lead you to success. Follow a case study illustrating the change process with all of its highs and lows. You will gain insights into common management situations and learn about potential approaches to problem-solving.
